

2007 KSHE Conference

The Kentucky Society of Healthcare Engineers and Kentucky Chapters of the Association for Professionals in Infection Control and Epidemiology collaborated to produce a joint conference on August 1-3, 2007. Ware attended this KSHE annual conference in Bowling Green, Kentucky. The attendance for the show was up 25% from last year show.

Ware had great conversations with potential customers and customers we are currently doing business with on Autoflame and the amount of savings that can still be obtained even though they have redundant back-up.

Jerry Keithly, Ware's account executive, won second place at the annual Gong Show/ Karaoke contest singing "Drift Away". The KSHE conference hosts this event each year. There were 14 to 16 participants and the first place winner got up 3 different times, singing 3 different songs before finally becoming the first place winner. Makes you wonder if they gave him first place just to shut him up. Definitely A for effort.

